SWARMING WITH INSECTS. The Pests Are a Veritable Plague In

Bolivia and Brazil.

Insect pests are, a plague on the boundary of Bolivia and Brazil. "Ta the forests and on the smaller rivers." writes Commander Herbert A. Edwards, R. N. R., in the Geographical Journal, "life is made almost unbearable. Ants are met with everywhere; they swarm over one's person in hundreds, and most of them bite most savagely. There is one kind of red ant, which lives in trees hollowed out by themselves, whose bite is like a touch with a red bot iron. If a person inad-Pertently touches or leans up against one of these trees the ants swarm out upon him instantly, and his life for hours afterward is a long drawn out misery. Then there are the huge ants, called tucanderss, one and a half inches in length; they live in the forks of trees. Their bite is particularly painful, and causes the part affected to swell up as if poisoned. One of our soldiers was incapacitated for several days by a bite of a tucandera. Red ants; black ants which make broad, straight roads of their own and move about in battallons; grayish white ants, living in red colored mounds, six feet high: yellow ants-each and every one has its own particular way of making unwelcome the intruder into its habi-"Butterflies during bright sunshine settled on the surveyors and the instruments they were using in such numbers that survey work became an impossibility. Nor is this all. Wasps of many colors, but always with a sting; hornets, which give no mercy to man or beast; bees of all sizes, some of which swarm is one's shirt, eyes, hair,? ears, mouth and nostrils seeking moisture. Every blade of grass has a tick
